Nursing People in Prisons Conference - Brisbane 2019

2 Day Conference for Nurses Working in Correctional, Justice and Forensic Settings

Need for Program

Nurses have a professional duty to ensure the healthcare provided to prisoners is equivalent to that in the community. The opportunity for nurses to improve health outcomes through proactive prevention strategies, assessment, management and education all rely on sound knowledge of the latest evidence for a range of chronic illnesses. Education that is specifically tailored to nurses who work in this specialised area is crucial if the physical and financial burdens of chronic disease and mental health conditions are to be reduced.

Purpose of Program

The purpose of this conference is to improve the health outcomes of people in prisons by enhancing nurses' knowledge about the latest evidence-based strategies to prevent, assess and manage chronic illnesses.

Learning Outcomes

At the conclusion of this program it is expected that the participants will be able to:

- Provide care to prisoners that is aligned with current standards of professional practice to reduce the burden of disease
- Minimise complications and prevent chronic disease progression through improved assessment and management
- Improve health outcomes by implementing evidence-based practice to manage a range of chronic physical and mental health conditions
- Enhance professional accountability and maintain scope of practice by understanding legal and ethical considerations of working with prisoner populations
