This training is available free to WA Health employees, including staff from SJOG Midland and Mt Lawley, and Peel and Joondalup Health Campuses. It is suitable for any allied health, nursing, medical and support staff working in rehabilitation, geriatric evaluation and management.

If you work outside WA Health, please contact us at: tracsWA@health.wa.gov.au to discuss options to access our training.

The aim of the Learning Program is to improve patient outcomes in Subacute Care (SAC) through the delivery of evidence based, coordinated care by embedding a culture of clinical excellence within SAC services and developing workforce skills and knowledge.

Aboriginal Person Centred Care Objectives:

- Increase cultural knowledge and understanding.
- Engage with authentic stories of Aboriginal people's experience of healthcare providing insight to enhance the development of deep and lasting empathy for Aboriginal people.
- Improve the skills of health professionals to provide person-centred care to Aboriginal people in a holistic, culturally safe way in a culturally compassionate environment.
