

Associate Lecturer/Lecturer - Nursing/Midwifery

4163

About Us

At the University of Newcastle, our staff are curious. We think big, see opportunity, are open to ideas and ask why. The University has an international reputation for research excellence and we continue to build on our research strengths, engagement with industry and partnering with outstanding international universities

Your NEW opportunity

One of the largest schools in the Faculty of Health and Medicine, the School of Nursing and Midwifery currently leads more than 2,900 students enrolled in undergraduate nursing and midwifery degrees, around 665 postgraduate students and more than 50 completing masters or doctoral degrees by research. Students can study on campus, either at Callaghan, Central Coast (Ourimbah) or Port Macquarie, and a number of degrees are delivered online with students across the world accessing our courses.

Key to our student experience is the close partnership we have forged with public and private facilities within the Hunter New England, Central Coast, Mid North Coast and Northern Sydney Local Health Districts. These strong relationships enable access to high quality, multidisciplinary clinical placements that provide our students with the opportunity to learn in a variety of health care settings.

About your NEW role

These fixed term (5 years) full-time positions will be located at either the Callaghan or Ourimbah Campuses, with an expectation to work across the Callaghan, Ourimbah and Port Macquarie campuses, as well as online.

These roles will play a key role in the promotion of excellence in teaching and learning through curriculum development and delivery, while conducting research that advances the School's research agenda.

About you

Lecturer of Nursing/Midwifery (Level B)

Essential Criteria

- PhD in nursing, and/or midwifery;
- Current registration with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia;
- Evidence of experience, excellence and innovation in undergraduate and/or postgraduate teaching on Nursing and/or Midwifery;
- Commitment to enhancing the student experience via innovative approaches to teaching and learning and authentic assessment;
- An understanding of the nexus between teaching and research and a commitment to scholarship of teaching and learning;
- Evidence of effective interpersonal skills including the ability to participate in a team environment, demonstrating clear communication and mutual respect;
- Knowledge of, and experience in adhering to workplace policies and procedures in the areas of work health safety, equity, diversity and promoting a respectful workplace culture.

Desirable Criteria

- Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person
- Relevant clinical experience
- Participation in publications would be highly regarded

Associate Lecturer of Nursing/Midwifery (Level A)

Essential Criteria

- Masters degree or higher qualification in nursing, and/or midwifery, nursing education or a related discipline;
- Current registration with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia;
- Demonstrated experience in the delivery of higher education teaching in Nursing and/or Midwifery;
- Commitment to enhancing the student experience via innovative approaches to teaching and learning and authentic assessment;
- An understanding of the nexus between teaching and research and a commitment to scholarship of teaching and learning;
- Evidence of effective interpersonal skills including the ability to participate in a team environment, demonstrating clear communication and mutual respect;
- Knowledge of, and experience in adhering to workplace policies and procedures in the areas of work health safety, equity, diversity and promoting a respectful workplace culture.

Desirable Criteria

- Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person
- Evidence of current enrolment and satisfactory progress in a PhD in nursing or midwifery;
- Evidence of experience, excellence and innovation in undergraduate and/or postgraduate teaching;
- Relevant clinical experience.

For full job descriptions visit <https://www.newcastle.edu.au/about-uon/jobs-at-uon/job-vacancies>

Please select your preferred role and download the appropriate position description.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander applicants are encouraged to apply.

Your NEW benefits

From a flexible working environment to discounts in private health insurance and gym memberships, we offer access to a wide range of employee benefits including salary packaging. You can learn more about these at <https://www.newcastle.edu.au/about-uon/jobs-at-uon/benefits-at-a-glance>

We provide opportunities for all people regardless of their background and experience, and this philosophy is reflected across all that we do.

The remuneration is from:

$99,213-$117,817 (Lecturer - level B) + 17% super and is commensurate with experience.

$69,451-$94,251 (Associate Lecturer – level A) + 17% super and is commensurate with experience.

Your next steps

Click on 'Apply for this job'. Your application will be assessed on selection criteria. Read all information about the role so you understand what is required. In addition:

- Follow all directions and complete all necessary fields of the application; and
- In your selection criteria demonstrate clearly how your skills and experience meet each point and should be a maximum of four pages.

Closing Date: 27 November 2019