

DECOLONISING DATA, EVALUATION AND RESEARCH

Korl-Koorl Nakolak (return knowledge)

Over the past few years, with support from Lotterywest, Wungening Aboriginal Corporation has been on a journey of learning how to decolonise data, evaluation and research.

This one-day forum is an opportunity to:

- Hear what we've learnt and how we are putting it into practice
- Explore how Aboriginal Data Sovereignty principles can reshape the way we work
- Understand how funders, government, researchers and evaluators can meet their obligations to Aboriginal communities

Join us in building a future where Aboriginal voices, leadership and knowledge are at the centre of data, evaluation and research.

Program Highlights

The forum features presentations and panels on:

- Aboriginal Data Governance and Sovereignty
- Fearless Partnerships
- Evaluation Our Way
- Measuring What Matters in Aboriginal-led Programs
- Community-led research projects in health, AOD, family support and homelessness

Who Should Attend?

- Aboriginal Community Controlled Organisations
- Community service providers
- Funders and policy makers
- Researchers and evaluators
- Anyone committed to decolonising systems and supporting Aboriginal-led approaches
